

Poetry Porch: Poetry

---

Afterlife

By Barbara Siegel Carlson

The magnolia flower
breaks apart

falling into the grass
with the lightest sound

almost translucent
to become the air

scented with others too bright to name